

critics of eastern football for a position on the coveted honor, was not selected by Camp.

The two old chums, Wallace and "Moose," as Englehorn is called by everyone in the Northwest, owing to his 75 inches of height and 210 pounds of muscle, have met twice as opponents on the gridiron. Last year in the famous Dartmouth - Princeton game, which resulted in a 6-0 victory for the Tigers, the winning points were scored by a long drop kick by DeWitt. After the game the two life-long friends met in the center of the gridiron and shook hands.

That sure is some sporting spirit. To show that the boys have not fallen down in their attempt to grab all the honors, may be judged from the following facts:

Englehorn—

Entered Dartmouth college in fall of 1910.

Played tackle in varsity football team in 1911 and 12.

Won the all-New England hammer throw at the games held in 1912.

Put the 16-pound shot 43 feet.
Ran the 120-yard hurdles in 16 seconds.

Elected to presidency of the junior class this year.

Selected as captain of the football team for 1913.

Did all the goal and place kicking for the Dartmouth team.

Is a high-class student, standing high in all of his classes.

Is center on the basketball team.

Is one of the editors and critics on the leading Dartmouth daily.

Is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

DeWitt—

Entered Princeton university in fall of 1910.

Played on football varsity team in 1911 and 12.

Was the big factor in 1911 season, when Princeton beat Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth.

Played on the crack Princeton basketball team in 1911 and 12.

Elected captain of the basketball team for 1912-13.

Mentioned for All-American football team by New York and many other prominent papers.

Elected president this year of the junior class.

Is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

Made more yardage than any other fullback in the east this year, except Brickley of Harvard.

Did all the punting for the football team in 1911-12.

Made the famous drop kick which beat Dartmouth in 1911, 6-0.

—o—o—

"Why don't you go home to lunch?" asked one.

"Because," replied the other, "I never reach my office soon enough to be able to return sufficiently early to get back again in time to return to my dinner."

—o—o—

La Follétte has presented his 8-hours work bill for District of Columbia women. Go at 'em with the minimum wage proposition, too, Bob!